

Exciting opportunities for reading over the summer!

We are so excited to present all of our manatees with an awesome summer reading opportunity for the third year! Again, this summer students can keep reading, reading, reading and earn prizes at the beginning of school next year!

This summer you can visit visit the school on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9-11 am and take AR quizzes.

Call 904.547.8440 with questions.

You can find more information about quizzing, summer reading ideas and your child's reading log attached to this brochure.

Parent AR quizzing tips:

Have your child take a quiz on the book soon after finishing it to increase the average number of questions that they will answer correctly.

Make sure your child isn't trying to read books independently that are too hard for them. If they can read most of the words on the first page on their own, then that is probably a good fit book for them to read on their own.

Helping your child build comprehension

Children learn when they make connections between what they hear and what they know.

One method parents can use to help make these connections is called a think aloud, where you talk through your thoughts as you read. Here are three ways to use think alouds, with examples from some of our favorite kids' books:

1. Connect the book to your child's own life experience Example: A River Dream by Allen Say "This book reminds me of the time my father took me fishing. Do you remember the time we went fishing?"
2. Connect the book to other books they have read. Example: Mufaro's Beautiful Daughters by John Steptoe Say, "This story reminds me of Cinderella. Both stories are about sisters. Do you know any other stories about nice and mean sisters? Let's keep reading to find out other ways the stories are similar."
3. Connect the book to big ideas/lesson. Example: Stellaluna by Janell Cannon Say, "This story helps me understand that we are all the same in many ways, but it's our differences that make us special."

summer reading matters...stay in the game.

Research suggests that the average student loses about a month of learning in the summer. You can help by reading each day with your child over the summer. Join us in fighting summer learning loss! Encourage your child to read across a variety of genres: fantasy/sci-fi, historical fiction, biographies, informational books and poetry. Need help finding books in these genres? Check out the sites below or go to:
